EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Ohio Methodists and the Third Term.

CINCINNATI Dec 28.—At the regular weekly meet ing of Methodist preachers yesterday the third term matter was under consideration. One set of resolutions was offered declining to express an opinion on the third term and deploring Haven's action. Another set express amazement at the same. Another set express little a matter denying Haven's right to speak for the whole Church and entirely opposing any connection between Church and state. A brief but lively discussion followed and finally the entire matter was laid on the table. This is probably the end of the subject.

Display the Flag

NEW YORK Dec. 28.—The Board of Aldermen has ordered that in commemoration of the adoption of the Star Spangled Banner by the Continental army for its standard on January 1st 1776 the National ensign be displayed from sunrise till sunset on every public building in the city on New Year's day, and the proprietors of hotels places of amusement and other public places, and masters of vessels in the harbor be requested to display their flags on that day. The aldermen hope this con cession may be general throughout the coun try.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Walker, the California Vine [illegible] man is suing for a divorce from his wife. The [illegible] applied yesterday for an order for alimony of $400 per week and $3,000 counsel fee alleging that her husband is worth a million dol lars and that he is realizing a vast income. Walker says he is only worth about $100 000 but has an annual income of $100 000. Pending the argument [illegible] of permanent alimony, the court granted $100 per week alimony which is the amount she says she has been receiving from her hus band for pocket money. The case is badly compli cated by charges and counter charges of every kind of bigamy.

A RICH STOCKING PAUPER.—The good people of Marengo, Iowa for a long time had on their hands a pitiable object of charity and tried to do their duty as sympathetic human beings. Emma Beanford was a widow of Marengo who was once supposed to be quite well to do but had been reduced to rags and squalor and starvation under the eyes of the people of Ma rengo. They gave her food and clothing and sympathy in her abject poverty, trying to lighten her oppressive memories of better days as well as to keep her body and soul together. Although the widow Beanford became ill and her sympathizing neighbors provided her with doctors, medicines nurses and other sick room comforts. Then the widow Beanford died, with her shoes on and without stockings. She was buried by the Odd Fellows, who gave her a respectable funeral, a good comfort able coffin, and a hospitable grave. The public administrator went to rooting among the widow Beanford's boxes and trunks looking for anything but merely perform ing the perfunctory routine of his office. He came upon hidden and unsuspected treasures in unfolded money in gold and silver and paper and paper currency promissory notes in hundreds of dollars, a valuable gold watch and chain, three diamond rings, one contain ing a cluster of six stones, other gold and sil ver rings and trinkets, several fine silk dresses, some dozens of pairs of silk stockings a splen did feather bed and bedding to match, and all the paraphernalia of a first class feminine es tablishment and outfit. The good charitable people of Marengo were astonished at these revelations. They had carried the poor woman for years and had not felt the burden but now the load that had just rolled off their shoulders into the grave hurt them a little. The Widow Beanford was richer than any of them, and died on the hands of charity with thousands of dollars rusting in her h[illegible].

A MAN ROASTED ALIVE.—A strange accident occurred at Rockville Ind a few days ago. Robert Smith, an employe of Mr Barker [illegible] the kiln on occasion recently to arrange some pieces of sheet-iron on the summit of the kiln. In the kiln in full blast, placed the top of a twenty foot ladder against a square projection of brick work there, over which the poles of the ladder fitted snugly, leaving a space of about two inches between the brickwork and the first rung. The kiln was in full blast and an in tense heat radiated to a distance of twenty feet therefrom. Shading his face as much as possible with his hat to protect it from the in tense heat, he mounted the ladder hastily and reached the top, had clasped both hands round the uppermost rung to steady himself before proceeding with his work when the poles of the ladder slipped forward, catching his hands as in a vise, between the brickwork and the first rung of the ladder. His struggles to escape, but his own weight [illegible] out of the ladder prevented his withdrawing his hands, and he had to give up in despair. Meanwhile his cries for help [illegible] had raised the whole [illegible] and the utmost excitement prevailed [illegible] of sufficient length [illegible] The cries of the poor man [illegible] rising above them drove the crowd [illegible] while to add to the horror of the scene, Mr Smith's agony [illegible] and down shrieking [illegible] to save him [illegible] After a few moments [illegible] a ladder was procured [illegible] and Rufus Dooley [illegible] the poor sufferer. His face [illegible] were burned to a cr[illegible] of flesh was left on his head. There is small hope of his recovery.

The fact that Henry Wilson's brain weighed less than the average [illegible] the re ceived statement that weight of brain [illegible] shows a person of ability. A [illegible] and who had the heaviest brain ever weighed [illegible], not quantity gives greatness.

Run Over and Killed

PALISADE Dec 28.—Yesterday morning the engineer of the Eastern bound emigrant train discovered the body of a man on the track a short distance ahead of the engine about 11 miles west of here. He was unable to stop the train until the body had been carried about 150 feet. It was then removed from the track in a fearfully mangled condition. Sev eral cuts were found on the body two near the throat which must have been inflicted with a knife. The opinion is that he was brutally murdered by a man who had been with him for several days and has made his escape, and that after committing the crime he placed the body on the track to avoid sus picion. The body was taken to Beowae by the passenger train and an inquest held but nothing could be found to lead to its identifi cation. The verdict rendered was that the de ceased came to his death by being run over by the train while in a state of intoxication as he had been seen drinking, during the previ ous evening.

Gambling Contract.

SAN FRANCISCO Dec 28.—A case was tried in Judge Joachimsen's court this morning, in which a man named O Donnell sued Thomp son & Co one of the firms engaged in dealing in puts and calls on mining stock. Woodville Con. Mining Co. Suit

In the suit of Marion J MacDonald against the Woodville Con Mining Co the defendants filed their answer to day setting forth that the matter in dispute exceeds the sum of $50 000. Of the capital stock of the company, 60 000 shares were distributed among the stock holders. The allegation that contiguous claims are worthless is denied the body of ore which they contain being alleged to give to the stock of the company its chief value. The charge of fraud is likewise denied, likewise that Pearson induced the corporation to pay $70 000 for 52 325 shares of the capital stock of the South Woodville Mining Co. This stock is represented to be worth to the company the full value of its stated amount. After other denials the answer prays the court to proceed no further in the suit, and requests that the same be referred to the U S circuit court

A RAT IN THE TELEGRAPH SERVICE.—A tele graph inspector in England recently pressed into his service a rat under the following pe culiar circumstances. It was necessary to overhaul a cable of wires inclosed in iron tubes. A certain length of the cable had to be taken out of the tube and the men [illegible] menced hauling at one end without having taken the precaution to attach to the other a wire by which it might be drawn back into the tube after inspection and repairs. The question arose how the cable was to be re stored to its proper place and here the in genuity of the inspector was manifested. He invoked the aid of a ratcatcher and pro vided with a large rat a ferret, and a [illegible] of string wound on a Morse paper [illegible] The [illegible] "flush boxes" were opened and the rat with one end of the string attached to his body was put into the pipe. He scampered away at a racing pace dragging the twine with him until he reached the middle of the length of the pipe and there [illegible] The ferret was then put in and [illegible] the rat again until he sprang clean out of the [illegible] flush box. THE PRESIDENT BABCOCK AND THEIR RINGS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Will you excuse me for taking a part in the little affair between your correspondent "Truth and yourself? Many of your friends are like Truth in thinking that you were rather in hot haste in your defense of the Presi dent. There certainly has been no "hot haste" in condemning the criminalities of his admin istration. The whole country has patiently borne a great deal in this respect. The full responsibility will rest where it properly be longs for these misdeeds only after his admin istration of the government shall have ceased to exist. My purpose in addressing you just now is to call your attention to a new phase of the subject in discussion.

It is reported that at the breaking up of the session of the cabinet, which determined the removal of Gen Henderson, who had suc cessfully conducted the whisky ring trials in St Louis because of improper language used in reference to the President, that that func tionary remarked "I certainly am not on trial." Perhaps that might be truthfully said so far as the courts in St Louis were con cerned, which is probably what the President meant, but nevertheless he is on trial just now before the whole country, and the blun der committed in removing Henderson is al ready producing its natural consequence in the assertion by some of the Eastern press that the government want no more convic tions in the whisky frauds at St Louis. The acquittal of Babcock now under the circum stances would not be a perfect acquittal in the public judgment. It does seem to me that the President and his Cabinet were over sensitive about what Henderson said. What he did say is now before the country and the people are forming an opinion which I un dertake to say will be against the hot haste and imprudence of the act of his displace ment. Here are his remarks which were said to be offensive as given by a St Louis paper will you publish them and let your readers form their own opinion

This is the blot upon our government that it is possible for such things to exist. They could not exist in England France or any other civilized government but are peculiar to our boasted republic. It is party party party that damns our country and he who has the nerve to resist the behests of party is worthy of more credit than the bravest of old Roman soldiers. Under the name of party every fraud and infamy within the range of possibilities are perpetrated. It is to be hoped and prayed that the time is coming when a man who has the imperious force of character to resist the dictates of party will be looked up to as a hero. But we may go to the bottom—corruption may feast in all our institutions and our nation may decay and fall before we learn this grand truth. I respect party when it is composed of honest men organized for honest purposes, but when it is composed of men banded together to perpetrate frauds upon the Government or to serve the personal ends of its leaders then away with it. I'll none of it

What right had Babcock to go to Douglass to induce him to withdraw his agents? Doug lass was placed in his position to see that the revenue laws of the government were proper ly enforced. What business, then, had Bab cock with him? When an official goes into office, he should be free and independent of all influences except that of law and if he recognize any other master, then this govern ment is tumbling down. What right has the President to interfere with Commissioner Douglass in the proper discharge of his duties or with the Treasurer? None, and Douglass showed a lamentable weakness of character when he listened to Babcock's dictates. He should either have insisted that his orders as they existed be carried out or should have re signed his office

Douglass now determined that his only course was to change the Supervisors all over the country and this would necessarily ex pose frauds. On January 20 1875, he tele graphed Hogg "You are hereby ordered to report in person to Supervisor Tutton who supersedes McDonald in St Louis. This was one of the first moves toward the change. On February 3, 1875 a telegram signed "Sylph" was sent from here to Babcock saying "We have official information that the enemy weakens. Push things." This was Joyce's writing, and the enemy referred to were those persons who were favoring the change of Su pervisors. A couple of days later Douglass telegraphed Brooks. The order telling you to report to Tutton is suspended. Now why did Douglass bend the supple hinges of the knee and permit any interference by the President? This was Douglass own business and he stood responsible for it under his of ficial oath. He was bound to [illegible] ten to no dictation from the President, Babcock or any other officer and it was his duty to see that order was carried out or resign

Now sir, you are a lawyer and a good one by general repute, and have been indepen dent of party in some measure. What do you say to these I say noble utterances of Hen derson? This is the first instance in our his tory that one of your profession has been pun ished for professional acts by official authori ty outside of the tribunals, which alone can rightfully exercise that power. Is it just? Shall it be tolerated? Is there any official in this broad land of boasted republican institu tions without the ceremonies and dignities of palaces and kings so hedged in by power and official influence that his acts are beyond the criticism and if need be the condemnation of any citizen professional or private. It so the sooner he is set aside the better for the re public. JOHN HAMPDEN

INDIAN WAR IN UNION COUNTY—THE CAUSE

Joseph is und subtedly following legal ad vice. Some two or three years since W G Langford now residing at Lewiston Idaho, recovered in the United States courts of Wash ington Territory a judgment for the posses sion of the land on which the Indian agency buildings, and military fort at Lapwai are situ ate. There was no pretense that so far as civil law was concerned Mr Langford was not en titled to his writ of possession and to be put into the possession of the property by the sheriff which was done with the consent of the authorities at Washington peacefully

After he had so obtained possession a new idea originated in the fertile brain of the then Attorney-General that, conceding Langford's title to be perfect so far as the United States could make a title, yet as the Indian title had not been extinguished it was still Indian ter ritory and subject to the Indian Intercourse Act and there are no [illegible] except Indian agents and Government employes. So by the [illegible] of the [illegible] Langford's [illegible] neck and heels

[illegible] the Indian chief is a smart man [illegible] all the tricks of the whites. He plays poker and other civil[illegible] games with cards successfully with any [illegible] He [illegible] [illegible] knows the opinion of the late Attorney General Williams [illegible] the only way to get and keep possession [illegible] the Indian territory is by force. And this he is now putting in practice [illegible] the Wallowa valley [illegible] of the settlers who have nothing but the United States title and promise of protection [illegible] rely upon. This oftentimes do chickens come home to roost

The roads across the Blue Mountains are in a horrible condition, worse in fact than they have been for many years. Up to the present time the ground has not been frozen sufficient ly to bear up even light teams. Many heavy teams have crossed the mountains recently loaded with freight for this valley and the upper country, and have ploughed up the ground and left the roads almost impassable

Said list embraces lots 5 and 6, of section 3, the north half of N W ¼ of 4, and lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of section 11, and all in township 11 south, range 4 west, containing 170 80 acres. These tracts were suspended at the general land office on account of conflicts which were removed at the time of approval

A FAMOUS SETTER

The Philadelphia Times says: A case of cruelty to animals is presented to the Phila delphia public the character of which is ag gravated by the fact that one of the victims is the representative hunting dog of America—the famous setter Bismarck, or as he was familiarly called "Biz"—the property of Mr David Brooks of this city the well known electrician. While being expressed from State Center Marshall county Iowa to this city the dog "Biz" and his sister Phebe, through whom it was supposed to in-breed this most valuable stock were suffocated to death by the negli gence of the messenger, who, after placing them in a corner of a forty foot car sur rounded them on all sides with coops con taining some thousands of chickens, which he had received as freight between here and Pittsburgh and then, when the train reached West Philadelphia, closed tight the doors of the car which contained a heated stove and left the blooded animals and feath ered tribe to perish by suffocation during the two hours it took to bring the car by the mule team to the depot at Sixteenth and Market streets. The dogs had been dead about twenty minutes when taken out of the car. The case has excited not only the indignation of the sportsmen and gunning fraternity of this city and country—for Bismarck's reputation, both as a hunting dog and a breeder, is known throughout the country to hundreds who do not know even the name of his master—but also the attention of the society for the pre vention of cruelty to animals. The express agent, Jacob Brailler, has been arrested and held in bail to answer before Alderman Urian on Saturday afternoon next, at 2 o'clock and Henry Armitt Brown, R Hann Hanson and Charles E Morris, have tendered their services to Mr Brooks and the society for the prosecution

"Biz" was not only renowned in the field, but when the sporting season was over his graceful white form as it sped along almost at lightning pace was all attraction in Chest nut street. He was a cross between an Irish setter and a white "Belton" setter bitch, brought from England by a gentleman of Ce dar Rapids Iowa, in 1864. The bitch was then about six months old. She proved a famous chicken dog, unequaled for speed and nose. She had her first litter of pups from an Irish red setter, taken to Iowa by a party of Englishmen who went to Iowa to shoot chickens (grouse) in 1868. There was nothing remarkable about the dog, which was left at Marshalltown. Biz was of this litter and was like his mother all white except two red spots. He was large, meas uring in every point more than the celebrated Gordon setter Kent, except in height, in which he was one inch less, when thin and in hunting condition, his weight was sixty eight pounds. Out of hunting season his weight was about seventy-five pounds. He was seven years old on the 1st of last April. Biz was trained by V J, Shipman a dry goods dealer of State Center, Marshall county Iowa. His great points were speed, endurance, nose, staunchness, docility and intelligence. He was broken on grouse, and has been hunted on them in Iowa every season. Mr Shipman would not part with him to Mr Brooks at any price when the lat ter first saw him in 1870, but subsequently parted with him for the reason that many of his dogs had been poisoned and "Biz" had also been tampered with, but he never missed the grouse season in Iowa as he accompanied his owner there every year. His speed was tremendous exceeding that of the fastest pointers fully fifty per cent. By good judges he was thought to go one hundred and twenty five miles a day, and Mr Brooks has frequently hunted with him three days in succession. His style was magnificent, and he could wind his game a long distance, coming to point often too far from the game to be within proper or ordinary shot. He never saw any quail until he was brought to Philadelphia. He was three years old when hunted on them and made out poorly at first paying little attention to them but he soon took to hunting them, and became a remarkable quail dog never going for a bird until his master had time to reload and he was given the order for fear of frightening the other birds too soon. On Christmas in 1872 he found twen ty coveys in five hours hunting from eleven to four o'clock at Glassboro sixteen miles from this city. This was the coldest day of that winter the mercury being eight degrees below zero at eight o'clock in the morning. He dropped to shoot retrieved splendidly and never lost a crippled bird or failed to find the dead ones. He was excellent on snipe pheasants, and woodcock. On the first of November he was hunted in Pennsylvania, New Jersey Delaware and Maryland in October in New England and in summer in Iowa, where his renown was famous. Frequent attempts were made by sportsmen to match him in the field against celebrated English and native setters but they always fell through in consequence of his reputation. He was also remarkable for the excellence of his breed his progeny numbering about 200, his owner Mr Brooks lending him cheerful ly to owners of blood stock for the encourage ment of good stock. His sister Phebe who was suffocated with him was also remarkable for her beauty speed and intelligence and it is to be regretted that the at tempt to cultivate an inbreed of this peculiar stock which was about to be undertaken has so disastrously failed. As a watch dog and house companion Biz was also remarkable awaking his master in the morning taking him his slippers finding hidden articles etc. Telegraphic dispatches from the West show that he and his companions passed through Chicago and Pittsburgh, on the Fort Wayne road all right. Their consignee Mr Shipman having prepared for them a large box with holes bored in the sides and open slats on the top and furnished with water basin and proper food. It was be tween Pittsburgh and this city that chick en coops were piled on the route as they were taken as freight upon the open slats and around the box so that the car was crowded with them. When Mr Brooks saw the car opened on Thursday morning in the depot Sixteenth and Market, a rush of heat blew in his face and he at once cried out, "the dogs are dead." The stove was hot. About half of the chickens were also dead when taken out, but when Mr Brooks returned in the afternoon they had disap peared and the investigation of the S P C A on Saturday will also be directed to finding out what became of those chickens

AN ANECDOTE OF VICE PRESIDENT WILSON. We give on the authority of F B Carpenter, a notable story of Henry Wilson, that has never yet been published. The evening before his inauguration as Vice President he called on Mr Sumner and said: "Sumner can you lend me a hundred dollars? I have not got money enough to be inaugurated on." Mr Sumner replied: "Certainly." If it had been a large sum I might not have been able to help you, but I can always lend a friend a hundred dollars. He then gave Mr Wilson a check for the amount and after the latter had retired, Mr Sumner, turning to Mr Car penter, remarked: "There is an incident worth remembering—such a one as could never have occurred in any country but our own." That canceled check if still in exist ence, with Senator Sumner's signature on its face and Vice President Wilson's on the back, would be a very desirable autograph.—Inde pendent

Expectorant

Stubborn Coughs and Colds yield promptly to the healing and curative properties of Dr. Jayne's Expectorant. It loosens and promotes the expectoration of irritating matter,—mitigates much pain and distress, and checks inflammation.

Asthma, Bronchitis, and Throat Troubles are at once relieved by Dr. Jayne's Expectorant. It removes constriction of the Bronchial tubes, loosens phlegm, soothes and heals the mucous membrane, allays any feverish tendency, and helps to forward a gradual cure.

Consumption, Pleurisy, and ... Affections are generally controlled and ameliorated by Dr. Jayne's Expectorant. It saves the lungs from much irritation and distress, by relieving them of the irritating matter by which they are clogged, it also suppresses inflammation and gives the affected parts a chance to heal.

Whooping Cough, Croup and Hoarseness are efficaciously treated by Dr. Jayne's Expectorant. It removes difficulty of breathing and oppression in the throat or lungs, promotes the ejection of mucus and subdues the violence of these complaints at the outset. It is a Safe Family Curative, of long-established reputation, and where promptly administered, has enabled many to escape serious Lung Affections.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage; remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all its ill effects, remember that if you persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the Doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill, or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave. Full course of treatment, $25 00. Send money by Post Office order or Express with full description of the case. Call or address

A SICK STOCKING PAUPER.—The good people of Marengo, Iowa for a long time had on their hands a pitiable object of charity and tried to do their duty as sympathetic human beings. Emma Beanford was a widow of Marengo who was once supposed to be quite well to do but had been reduced to rags and squalor and starvation under the eyes of the people of Marengo. They gave her food and clothing and consolation, in her abject poverty trying to lighten her oppressive memories of better days as well as to keep her body and soul together. At length the widow Beanford became ill and her sympathizing neighbors provided her with doctors, medicines nurses, and other sick room comforts. Then the widow Beanford died, with her shoes on and without stockings. She was buried by the Odd Fellows, who gave her a respectable funeral a good comfortable coffin, and a hospitable grave. The public administrator went to rooting among the widow Beanford's boxes and trunks not looking for anything but merely performing the perfunctory routine of his office. He came upon hidden and unsuspected treasures in unheard of money in gold and silver and copper and paper currency, promissory notes for hundreds of dollars, a valuable gold watch and chain, three diamond rings, one containing a cluster of six stones, other gold and silver rings and trinkets, several fine silk dresses, some dozens of pairs of silk stockings a splendid feather bed and bedding to match, and all the paraphernalia of a first class feminine establishment and outfit. The good charitable people of Marengo were astonished at these developments. They had carried the poor woman for years and had not felt the burden but now the load that had just rolled off their shoulders into the grave hurt them a little. The Widow Beanford was richer than any of them, and died on the hands of charity with thousands of dollars rusting in her house.

A MAN ROASTED ALIVE.—A strange accident occurred at Rockville Ind, a few days ago. Robert Smidt, an employe of Mr Barker ... having occasion, recently, to arrange some pieces of sheet-iron on the summit of the kiln then in full blast, placed the top of a twenty foot ladder against a square projection of brick work there, over which the poles of the ladder took snugly, leaving a space of about two inches between the brickwork and the first rung. The kiln was in full blast and an intense heat radiated to a distance of twenty feet therefrom. Shading his face as much as possible with his hat to protect it from the intense heat, he mounted the ladder hastily and reached the top had clasped both hands round the uppermost rung to steady himself before proceeding with his work when the poles of the ladder slipped forward catching his hands as in a vise, between the brickwork and the first rung of the ladder. He struggled desperately to escape, but his own weight added to ... of the ladder prevented his withdrawing his hands, and he had to give up in despair. Meanwhile his cries for help ... had raised the whole neighborhood ... excitement prevailed ... of sufficient length ... The cries of the poor man ... rising above them drove ... frantic, while to add to the horror of the scene Mr Smidt's agonized wife rushed up and down shrieking ... [illegible] ... After a few moments delay ... a ladder was procured ... and Rufus Dooley ... the poor sufferer. His face ... were burned to a crisp ... that was left on his head. There is small hope of his recovery.

Run Over and Killed.

PALISADE Dec 28—Yesterday morning the engineer of the Eastern bound emigrant train discovered the body of a man on the track a short distance ahead of the engine about 11 miles west of here. He was unable to stop the train until the body had been carried about 100 feet. It was then removed from the track in a fearfully mangled condition. Several cuts were found on the body two near the throat which must have been inflicted with a knife. The opinion is that he was brutally murdered by a man who had been with him for several days and has made his escape, and that after committing the crime he placed the body on the track to avoid suspicion. The body was taken to Beowawe by the passenger train and an inquest held but nothing could be found to lead to its identification. The verdict rendered was that the deceased came to his death by being run over by the train while in a state of intoxication as he had been seen drinking during the previous evening.

Woodville Con. Mining Co. Suit

In the suit of Marion J MacDonald against the Woodville Con Mining Co the defendants filed their answer to day setting forth that the matter in dispute exceeds the sum of $50 000. Of the capital stock of the company, 60 000 shares were distributed among the stockholders. The allegation that contiguous claims are worthless is denied the body of ore which they contain being alleged to give to the stock of the company its chief value. The charge of fraud is likewise denied, likewise that Pearson induced the corporation to pay $70 000 for 62 325 shares of the capital stock of the South Woodville Mining Co. This stock is represented to be worth to the company the full value of its stated amount. After other denials the answer prays the court to proceed no further in the suit, and requests that the same be referred to the U S circuit court

Railway Meeting at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Dec 27—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held here last evening in the interest of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad. Col Warner presided, and stated the object of the meeting to be to take steps to perfect railroad connection with Southern Utah and the Union Pacific railroad to the Atlantic States. A communication was read from Hon J P Jones, promising hearty aid in any feasible plan to carry out the desired object. A committee was chosen to proceed to Salt Lake City in the interests of the road

It commenced raining lightly at 7 P M. The prospects are favorable for a wet night

A RAT IN THE TELEGRAPH SERVICE.—A telegraph inspector in England recently pressed into his service a rat under the following peculiar circumstances. It was necessary to overhaul a cable of wires inclosed in iron tubes. A certain length of the cable had to be taken out of the tube and the men commenced hauling at one end without having taken the precaution to attach to the other a wire by which it might be drawn back into the tube after inspection and repairs. The question arose how the cable was to be restored to its proper place and here the ingenuity of the inspector was manifested. He invoked the aid of a rat catcher and provided with a large rat, a ferret and a ball of string wound on a Morse paper ... repaired to the opening in the tube. The flush boxes were opened and the rat with one end of the string attached to his body was put into the pipe. He scampered away at a racing pace dragging the twine with him until he reached the middle of the length of the pipe and there stopped. The ferret was then put in and off went the rat again until he sprang clear out of the next flush box. One length of the cable was thus safe and the same operation was continued with the other but the rat stopped short a few yards in the pipe and boldly awaited the approach of the ferret. A sharp ... [illegible] ... from his anxiety.

THE BASE BALL CHAMPIONSHIP.—At a meeting of the championship committee of the National Base Ball Association ... [illegible] ... the Athletics of Philadelphia, the ... of Boston, the Hartfords, the Mutuals of New York and White Stockings of St Louis. It was then voted that the championship pennant for the season of 1875 be awarded the Boston Base Ball Club they having won the greatest number of games during the season of 1875. The Bostons won 4 games; Athletics 7 games, Hartfords 5 games, the St Louis Club 9 games, Philadelphias ... games, Chicagos 0, Mutuals 0, New Havens ... Atlantics, 2

THE PRESIDENT, BABCOCK AND THEIR RINGS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Will you excuse me for taking a part in the little affair between your correspondent 'Truth' and yourself? Many of your friends are like Truth in thinking that you were rather in 'hot haste' in your defense of the President. There certainly has been no 'hot haste' in condemning the criminalities of his administration. The whole country has patiently borne a great deal in this respect. The full responsibility will rest where it properly belongs for these misdeeds only after his administration of the government shall have ceased to exist. My purpose in addressing you just now is to call your attention to a new phase of the subject in discussion.

It is reported that at the breaking up of the session of the cabinet, which determined the removal of Gen Henderson, who had successfully conducted the whisky ring trials in St Louis because of improper language used in reference to the President, that that functionary remarked 'I certainly am not on trial.' Perhaps that might be truthfully said so far as the courts in St Louis were concerned, which is probably what the President meant but nevertheless he is on trial just now before the whole country, and the blunder committed in removing Henderson is already producing its natural consequence in the assertion by some of the Eastern press that the government want no more convictions in the whisky frauds at St. Louis. The acquittal of Babcock now under the circumstances would not be a perfect acquittal in the public judgment. It does seem to me that the President and his Cabinet were over sensitive about what Henderson said. What he did say is now before the country and the people are forming an opinion which I undertake to say will be against the 'hot haste' and imprudence of the act of his displacement. Here are his remarks which were said to be offensive as given by a St Louis paper; will you publish them and let your readers form their own opinion?

This is the blot upon our government that it is possible for such things to exist. They could not exist in England France or any other civilized government but are peculiar to our boasted republic. It is party, party, party that damns our country and he who has the nerve to resist the behests of party is worthy of more credit than the bravest of old Roman soldiers. Under the name of party every fraud and infamy within the range of possibilities are perpetrated. It is to be hoped and prayed that the time is coming when a man who has the imperious force of character to resist the dictates of party will be looked up to as a hero. But we may go to the bottom—corruption may feast in all our institutions, and our nation may decay and fall before we learn this grand truth. I respect party which it is composed of honest men, organized for honest purposes, but when it is composed of men banded together to perpetrate frauds upon the Government or to serve the personal ends of its leaders, then away with it. I'll none of it.

What right had Babcock to go to Douglass to induce him to withdraw his agents? Douglass was placed in his position to see that the revenue laws of the government were properly enforced. What business, then, had Babcock with him? When an official goes into office he should be free and independent of all influences except that of law and if he recognize any other master than this government is tumbling down. What right has the President to interfere with Commissioner Douglass in the proper discharge of his duties, or with the Treasurer? None, and Douglass showed a lamentable weakness of character when he listened to Babcock's dictates. He should either have insisted that his orders as they existed be carried out or should have resigned his office.

Douglass now determined that his only course was to change the Supervisors all over the country and this would necessarily expose frauds. On January 20 1875, he telegraphed Hong: 'You are hereby ordered to report in person to Supervisor Tutton who supersedes McDonald in St Louis.' This was one of the first moves toward the change. On February 3, 1875, a telegram signed 'Sylph' was sent from here to Babcock saying: 'We have official information that the enemy weakens. Push things.' This was Joyce's writing and the enemy referred to were those persons who were favoring the change of Supervisors. A couple of days later Douglass telegraphed Brooks: 'The order telling you to report to Tutton is suspended.' Now, why did Douglass bend the supple hinges of the knee and permit any interference by the President? This was Douglass' own business and he stood responsible for it under his oath. He was bound to listen to no dictation from the President, Babcock, or any other officer, and it was his duty to see that order was carried out or resign.

Now, sir, you are a lawyer, and a good one by general repute, and have been independent of party in some measure. What do you say to these I say, noble utterances of Henderson? This is the first instance in our history that one of your profession has been punished for professional acts by official authority outside of the tribunals which alone can rightfully exercise that power. Is it just? Shall it be tolerated? Is there any official in this broad land of boasted republican institutions, without the ceremonies and dignities of palaces and kings so hedged in by power and official influence that his acts are beyond the criticism and if need be the condemnation of any citizen professional or private. If so, the sooner he be set aside the better for the republic.

JOHN HAMPDEN.

INDIAN WAR IN UNION COUNTY—THE CAUSE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Joseph is undoubtedly following legal advice. Some two or three years since W G Langford now residing at Lewiston Idaho, recovered in the United States courts of Washington Territory, a judgment for the possession of the land on which the Indian agency buildings and military fort at Lapwai are situate. There was no pretense that so far as civil law was concerned Mr Langford was not entitled to his writ of possession and to be put into the possession of the property by the sheriff which was done with the consent of the authorities at Washington peacefully.

After he had so obtained possession a new idea originated in the fertile brain of the then Attorney General, that, conceding Langford's title to be perfect so far as the United States could make a title, yet as the Indian title had not been extinguished it was still Indian territory and subject to the Indian Intercourse Act and therefore no one had a right to be there except Indian agents and Government employes. So by the aid of the military Langford's agent was forcibly hustled out neck and heels.

Joseph the Indian chief is a smart man, though an Indian and up to all the tricks of the whites. He plays poker and other civilized games with cards successfully with any white ... He once told the writer that ... [illegible] ... the Cayuse Indians ... in three years. I think he can read and write. He certainly ... the opinion of the late Attorney General ... that the only way to get and keep possession of lands in the Indian Territory is by force. And this he is now putting in practice in the Wallowa valley, much to the discomfort of the settlers who have nothing but the United States title and promise of protection to rely upon. Thus oftentimes do chickens come home to roost.

THE TERRITORIES.

A large number of horses in the Walla Walla valley are afflicted with the epizooty.

The fair given by the ladies of the Episcopal church at Walla Walla last week netted over $300

Two thousand head of hogs will be slaughtered in Walla Walla valley the present packing season

J J Hall, of Silver City, has been appointed Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of Idaho Territory

Amos Brown & Bros have a fine ship on the stocks at Newburyport, which they intend sending to Seattle for her first cargo. She is to be a 1,500 ton ship

The new county of Columbia in Washington Territory, held her first election on Monday of last week. The election was opened at the county seat with a fight

The barks Messenger, American Gaal and several other vessels which sailed from Port Ludlow and Port Blakely within the past few days, were compelled to put back and seek refuge in the harbors of the Sound during the late gale

A letter from Callao dated October 27th, written by Capt Jose M Sousa, brings intelligence of the loss of his fine ship the Camilo Gasone which sailed under his command from Port Discovery in the month of July last for that port with 650,000 feet of lumber. Officers and crew saved.

A Denver reporter has gleaned from the auditor's books of Colorado the following live stock statistics: The horses in the Territory number 28 650 valued at $1,823 920, and the mules 4 752, valued at $249 213. There are 375,215 horned cattle, valued at $4,973 469, while of sheep there are 424 977 head, upon which a valuation of $810 243 is fixed

At their first election for county officers in Columbia county (W T) held a week ago, S. L Galbreath was chosen sheriff; A J Cann, auditor; D C Guernsey, treasurer; R F Walker assessor; R F Sturtevant, probate judge; L B Leonard superintendent of schools, William Irving, surveyor, W W Day, coroner; E McDonald and J Harris, commissioners. All are Democrats but the probate judge, treasurer and assessor

Information is wanted by Richard Impett, of New York of the whereabouts of Richard W Impett, whom the writer is afraid was lost on the steamship Pacific. J B Newman, of Etterville, Gentry county Mo, is solicitous for one Eli Woods, who started for Seattle last July and who was to start home about the time of the loss of the Pacific. Information is also wanted of Thomas G W Grubb, for whom a letter is now lying in the Seattle postoffice

A short distance up the side of the mountain from Smith's Fork in the southeast corner of Oneida county, Idaho, is a lake one and a half miles long by one mile wide, so densely inhabited by trout that they appear along the shores in one continuous school, many of them being scarred by others biting in their attempts to devour them. The lake has no outlet. This wondrous trout pond was shown to the whites a short time since by some Shoshone Indians

The following protest appears in the Seattle Dispatch: "We, the wife and children of Josiah Gellerson, ask in the name of justice that the citizens of Seattle and surrounding country will not sign the petition now in circulation for the pardon of David Hughes, who willfully and maliciously murdered Josiah Gellerson, on White river, the 20th day of May last. The part that A S Hughes, the father, took in bringing about the murder, and the example he has heretofore set before his son, will prove that his guarantee is not sufficient to prove that he will be a peaceable citizen." The boy is between 18 and 21 years of age

BROWNSVILLE ITEMS

A friend at Brownsville, under date of the 28th inst, sends us the following summary of doings at that place for the last few days

No snow or frost yet here but rain, rain, rain

The Odd Fellows install on New Year's night

Business pretty good, but money not so free as usual

We have two good schools, besides Bishop's High School in session

The roads in the vicinity of town are worse this year than usual, which is saying a good deal

Messrs Kirk & Hume's store is daily crowded with customers, also the new drug store is fast becoming one of the necessary institutions of the town.

There has been considerable increase in the number of residents here this year. Many strangers settling in this vicinity, mostly from the northwestern States all seeming satisfied with Oregon. Also considerable improvement about town in the way of new buildings, sidewalks etc

The B W Mill Co have just opened their new store, with a fine display of goods which store by the way, would be no discredit to any town and is away up. Their mills have been idle for the last two weeks but will start up again with the new year. Their goods are in a steady demand and give universal satisfaction

The Masonic lodge of this place (Brownsville No 36) installed officers on St John's day 27th, in the presence of their families and friends followed by a substantial dinner at Mr J B Gross's hotel. Their officers are as follows: J W Lycer, W M; P Hume, S W; J B Sperry J W; J Blakely, treas; O P Corhow sec'y; H R Powell, S D; George Blakely J D; W R Bishop, Tiler

We have had the usual Christmas festivities, which passed off quietly and with general good feeling this year. First, a very pleasant ball in William Wilson's new hall on Christmas eve, also an extensive tree erected in the Rev W R Bishop's fine new academy building where about 400 met on Christmas eve to enjoy good music, both vocal and instrumental and receive the presents kindly presented by their friends. The little folks were not forgotten each one receiving a liberal supply of nuts, candy &c, prepared by willing hands and loving hearts

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The Colonist claims that the gold yield of British Columbia for 1875 will be $2 400 000

The road across Cowichan Flats has been gullied by high water, and is now impassable for teams

The bark Mary Ann Wilson which sailed for Iquique on Wednesday last week was compelled to put back to Royal Roads by heavy head winds met in the Straits

It is rumored that Mr McCreight Q C will be a candidate for the Mayoralty of Victoria at the coming municipal election. Mayor Drummond will offer himself for re-election

Two barrels of Bourbon whisky marked 'J Bear Mansfield (Coos Bay' have been picked up in Barclay Sound by Indians and brought to Victoria. The barrels formed part of the cargo of the schooner ..., from San Francisco, previously reported lost with all on board. The savages resolutely refused to drink the spirits

The lightkeeper at Cape Beale writes that when the mate of the lost ship Orpheus reached the lighthouse he professed not to know that the light at Cape Flattery was a fixed one and for some time insisted that it was a flash. He said that he mistook the Cape Beale light (which is a flash) for Flattery light, and that is why the Orpheus went on

I Igar Pettingill was brought down to Victoria from Nanaimo on board the steamer Maude having sustained serious injuries to his back by the falling of a piece of timber used in the construction of some trestle work on the road leading to Wellington, Departure Bay. The unfortunate man suffered great pain and it is feared he is badly hurt

OREGON

The Monmouth Messenger takes two weeks for Christmas

The smaller streams up the valley are all reported very full

A new sawmill is being built at the head of Howell Prairie in Marion county

The steamer Bonanza and City of Salem had a race on the upper river a few days ago in which the latter is said to have come out second best

A young man named W S Wilson was brought over to Weston from Walla Walla last week by the sheriff. Wilson is accused of burglarizing a house in Umatilla county

The road leading from La Grande to Oro Dell is very bad—mud hub deep nearly all the way. A little enterprise would make it a good road if the work was done at the right time

A Baker county man announces himself as a Democrat Republican Independent, Granger Temperance and Reform candidate for Sheriff, subject to the decision of the people of Baker county. Beat me if you can

The roads across the Blue Mountains are in a horrible condition, worse, in fact, than they have been for many years. Up to the present time the ground has not been frozen sufficiently to bear up even light teams. Many heavy teams have crossed the mountains recently loaded with freight for this valley and the upper country, and have ploughed up the ground and left the roads almost impassable

Approved list No 3, Oregon City district, of lands selected for the use and support of a State University, was received at the executive office Salem, on Monday, from the commissioner of the general land office. Said list embraces lots 6 and 8, of section 3, the north half of N W ¼ of 4, and lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of section 11, and all in township 11 south, range 4 west containing 170 89 acres. These tracts were suspended at the general land office on account of conflicts which were removed at the time of approval

A FAMOUS SETTER.

The Philadelphia Times says: A case of cruelty to animals is presented to the Philadelphia public, the character of which is aggravated by the fact that one of the victims is the representative hunting dog of America—the famous setter Bismarck, or as he was familiarly called, 'Biz'—the property of Mr David Brooks of this city, the well known electrician. While being expressed from State Center Marshall county Iowa, to this city, the dog 'Biz' and his sister Phebe, through whom it was supposed to in-breed this most valuable stock were suffocated to death by the negligence of the messenger, who, after placing them in a corner of a forty foot car, surrounded them on all sides with coops containing some thousands of chickens, which he had received as freight between here and Pittsburgh and then, when the train reached West Philadelphia, closed tight the doors of the car, which contained a heated stove and left the blooded animals and feathered tribe to perish by suffocation during the two hours it took to bring the car by the mule team to the depot at Sixteenth and Market streets. The dogs had been dead about twenty minutes when taken out of the car. The case has excited not only the indignation of the sportsmen and gunning fraternity of this city and country—for Bismarck's reputation, both as a hunting dog and a breeder, is known throughout the country to hundreds who do not know even the name of his master—but also the attention of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. The express agent, Jacob Brallier, has been arrested and held in bail to answer before Alderman Urian on Saturday afternoon next, at 2 o clock, and Henry Armitt Brown L Hunn Hanson and Charles E Morris, have tendered their services to Mr Brooks and the society for the prosecution

'Biz' was not only renowned in the field, but when the sporting season was over his graceful white form, as it sped along, almost at lightning pace, was all attraction in Chestnut street. He was a cross between an Irish setter and a white Belton 'setter' bitch, brought from England by a gentleman of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1864. The bitch was then about six months old. She proved a famous 'chicken' dog unequaled for speed and nose. She had her first litter of pups from an Irish red setter taken to Iowa by a party of Englishmen, who went to Iowa to shoot chickens (grouse) in 1868. There was nothing remarkable about the dog, which was left at Marshalltown. 'Biz' was of this litter and was like his mother all white except two red spots. He was large, measuring in every point more than the celebrated Gordon 'setter' Kent, except in height, in which he was one inch less; when thin and in hunting condition, his weight was sixty eight pounds; out of hunting season his weight was about seventy five pounds. He was seven years old on the 1st of last April. 'Biz' was trained by W J Shipman a dry goods dealer of State Center, Marshall county, Iowa. His great points were speed, endurance, nose, staunchness, docility and intelligence. He was broken on grouse, and has been hunted on them in Iowa every season. Mr Shipman would not part with him to Mr Brooks at any price when the latter first saw him in 1870, but subsequently parted with him for the reason that many of his dogs had been poisoned, and Biz had also been tampered with; but he never missed the grouse season in Iowa, as he accompanied his owner there every year. His speed was tremendous exceeding that of the fastest pointers fully fifty per cent. By good judges he was thought to go one hundred and twenty five miles a day, and Mr Brooks has frequently hunted with him three days in succession. His style was magnificent, and he could wind his game a long distance coming to point often too far from the game to be within proper or ordinary shot. He never saw any quail until he was brought to Philadelphia. He was three years old when hunted on them and made out poorly at first, paying little attention to them but he soon took to hunting them and became a remarkable quail dog never going for a bird until his master had time to reload and he was given the order, for fear of frightening the other birds too soon. On Christmas in 1872, he found twenty coveys in five hours hunting from eleven to four o clock at Glassboro sixteen miles from this city. This was the coldest day of that winter the mercury being eight degrees below zero at eight o'clock in the morning. He dropped to shoot, retrieved splendidly, and never lost a crippled bird or failed to find the dead ones. He was excellent on snipe, pheasants, and woodcock. On the first of November he was hunted in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland in October in New England and in summer in Iowa where his renown was famous. Frequent attempts were made by sportsmen to match him in the field against celebrated English and native setters but they always fell through in consequence of his reputation. He was also remarkable for the excellence of his breed; his progeny numbering about 500, his owner Mr Brooks, lending him cheerfully to owners of blooded sluts for the encouragement of good stock. His sister Phebe who was suffocated with him was also remarkable for her beauty, speed and intelligence and it is to be regretted that the attempt to cultivate an inbreed of this peculiar stock which was about to be undertaken has so disastrously failed. As a watch dog, and house companion Biz was also remarkable, awaking his master in the morning, taking him his slippers, finding hidden articles, etc. Telegraphic dispatches from the West show that he and his companions passed through Chicago and Pittsburgh, on the Fort Wayne road, all right, their consignee Mr Shipman having prepared for them a large box with holes bored in the sides and open slats on the top and furnished with water basin and proper food. It was between Pittsburgh and this city that chicken coops were piled on the route as they were taken as freight upon the open slats and around the box, so that the car was crowded with them. When Mr Brooks saw the car opened on Thursday morning in the depot Sixteenth and Market, a rush of heat blew in his face and he at once cried out, 'the dogs are dead.' The stove was hot. About half of the chickens were also dead when taken out but when Mr Brooks returned in the afternoon they had disappeared and the investigation of the S P C A on Saturday will also be directed to finding out what became of those chickens

AN ANECDOTE OF VICE PRESIDENT WILSON. We give, on the authority of F B Carpenter, a notable story of Henry Wilson, that has never yet been published. The evening before his inauguration as Vice President he called on Mr Sumner and said: 'Sumner, can you lend me a hundred dollars? I have not got money enough to be inaugurated on.' Mr Sumner replied: 'Certainly. If it had been a large sum I might not have been able to help you but I can always lend a friend a hundred dollars.' He then gave Mr Wilson a check for the amount, and after the latter had retired Mr Sumner turning to Mr Carpenter, remarked: 'There is an incident worth remembering—such a one as could never have occurred in any country but our own.' That canceled check, if still in existence, with Senator Sumner's signature on its face and Vice President Wilson's on the back, would be a very desirable autograph.—Independent.

THURSDAY MORNING DEC 30 1875

HAMPDEN TO THE FRONT

The name of John Hampden awakens an appreciation of political heroism, and inspires such feelings of veneration as almost to disarm criticism. We hesitate therefore before venturing any remarks upon the communication which appears this morning under the auspices of that revered name. And in order as far as possible to prepare the mind of the intelligent reader to give a fair hearing to the few suggestions we have to offer touching the performance of the village Hampden who now appears on the stage we submit that the case of the prosecution of a ring of thieves for stealing from the government is not a measure which like the levy of an unconstitutional and arbitrary tax, threatens the liberties of the commonwealth. Brave John Hampden worthy descendant of that proud old Hampden who hesitated not to sacrifice 'Tring, Wing and Ivanhoe' rather than brook an insult from titled aristocrat, fought nobly the battle of the people against royal usurpation so nobly indeed that he could well afford to rest on his laurels and pay no attention to the [illegible] of the St Louis whisky ring.

But to the matter in hand. Mr Hampden thinks our correspondent, Truth, was quite right in charging us with "hot haste" in coming to the defense of the President against the accusation which it was said Gen Babcock was making by unmistakable implication. And yet, in the very same breath, Mr Hampden speaks of the President as a criminal. When persons of such respectability as John Hampden speak thus of the President, it is certainly time for those who do not consider him a criminal to express their confidence. It is not "hot haste" to deny a charge when it has been so distinctly made. It is to be presumed from the course of those people who are so ready to accuse Grant of complicity in the whisky frauds that they had hoped there would be no answer to their charge till they saw fit to present the evidence upon which the accusation is made. To wait for evidence would be, unless we greatly mistake, to wait till doomsday. Besides, the wisdom and experience of mankind, as represented in the courts of justice, have determined that the proper time to deny any charge is when it is presented. So much for the matter of haste.

But Mr Hampden mentions not without apparent satisfaction the intimation by some of the Eastern papers that the removal of Gen. Henderson from the prosecution of the whisky ring, meant that the President did not want any more convictions. We are not told what Eastern papers are referred to; although some candid journal may have drawn such an irrational conclusion, it is not out of place to remind the public that there are Eastern papers which would welcome such a construction of the President's conduct with a haste so hot as to leave no room for fairness. It may be that such are the Eastern papers referred to by Mr Hampden. We are not called upon to justify or criticise the taste of the President as exhibited in Gen Henderson's removal. He may have been unduly sensitive to the insinuations of Gen Henderson. And on the other hand we fail to see any occasion for Henderson's insinuations. But whether the removal was in good taste or not, the whole course of the prosecution shows that the President's determined purpose was to "let no guilty man escape."

Mr. Hampden says truly that the President, though not on trial before the courts is on trial before the country. All public officers are on trial from the day they enter office till the day of their retirement. And that is a reason why those of the people—jurors in the case—who think the charges against him are unjust should speak out at once, instead of letting the popular verdict be made up against him.

We subscribe to the sentiments expressed by Mr Henderson concerning the evil of too strict adherence to party. They are the sentiments we have been endeavoring, in our humble way, to inculcate for a long time. But that does not touch the question of the President's guilt or innocence. That Babcock was in the 'crooked' ring appears altogether probable and it is certain that party politics was the consideration which led McDonald and Joyce and other Federal officers into the villainous transactions disclosed on the trial. But that does not prove that every Republican in the land is a thief [or] that President Grant belonged to the ring.

Judge Joachimsen in a case which came up before him in San Francisco day before yesterday decided that a contract for the delivery of stock on a particular day in the future is a legal contract but a contract to pay the difference between a stated price and the price the stock might command on a particular day is a gambling contract and can not be enforced in law. In the first case the seller may agree to deliver 100 shares of a certain stock in 20 days after the date of the contract for which the buyer may agree to pay $10 per share. This is a legal contract in all respects. Something of more or less value passes from the seller to the buyer for which the money is to be paid. If at the expiration of the twenty days the stock sold is worth more than $10 per share the seller practically is a loser to the amount of the difference for if he had not agreed to sell it for $10 he might sell it for a greater price. If the stock is not worth as much as $10 the buyer is a loser [illegible] he might buy [illegible] and have [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] on he would make a profit equal to the difference between the two sums. The buyer [illegible] and thereby make a profit equal to the difference [illegible]. In the other case there is no agreement to deliver anything whatever. Neither party to the transaction expects to deliver any stocks [illegible] receive any. The contract is in effect the same as a wager [illegible]. The wager is that a certain kind of stock will be sold on a particular day for say $50 per share and the stakes are the difference between that price and what it actually does sell for. If the price for which the stock actually sells is less than $50, the party who has named that price pays to the other the difference between it and the actual selling price. If the selling price is more than $50 then the difference is paid the other way. This is indistinguishable in all its essentials from any other kind of betting and is contrary to public policy and a contract of this kind cannot be enforced in law.

The British government has long held certain possessions in the peninsula south of the kingdom of Siam which were known as the Straits Settlements. Its representative there was Mr Birch who had the diplomatic title of Resident. Sometime since Mr Birch was murdered by fanatics who perhaps believed they might in this way prevent the spread of Christianity in those settlements to which they were much opposed. At any rate the affair was looked upon as involving religious matters. At first the murderers were protected by the native rulers, and it became necessary for Great Britain to send troops to that region. The result has been that the power of Great Britain has been more firmly established than ever in Malay and the Marahajah has been obliged to yield and acknowledge the supremacy of British power. The murderers of Mr Birch however aided no doubt by their co-religionists, escaped into Siam. It has been stated that it is not unlikely that Great Britain will enlarge the limits of her domain in that quarter of the globe but as yet no steps have been taken in that direction.

A terrific hurricane is reported to have passed over a portion of the Philippine Islands lately. The force of the wind was so great that thousands of houses were destroyed and several hundred people killed. Happily these furious storms so common in tropical latitudes, are unknown here. Nothing withstands their fury. Great trees are overthrown or broken short off, houses blown to pieces, as if instead of being solidly constructed they were built of cards and the fragments flying before the wind fill the air in every direction; the sea driven by the force of the hurricane rushes up the rivers causing them to break over their banks and inundate the land. An eye witness of one of these furious tempests says it is impossible to describe the desolation it produced in a few hours the whole country was laid waste. He says the wind did not blow in gusts with intermittent force but it seemed to assail everything with an unceasing furious violence which nothing could withstand. It may be remarked that the velocity of the wind at such times is over one hundred miles per hour.

Some time ago Mr Stephen W Healy wrote and published in the Tacosta an Italian paper published in Florence a series of letters in which he charged that many works of art claimed by and attributed to American sculptors and painters in Italy were really produced by the trained workmen in their studios. On account of a charge of this nature made by him against Mr Conolly Mr Healy was tried for libel and slander. Notwithstanding the fact that Italian law does not permit justification to be pleaded as a defense in cases of this sort, the defendant at the request of Mr Conolly, was allowed to make good the charges if he could do so. This he did his utmost to do, but failed most signally and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and to be imprisoned for eight days.

Wildidle and Foster have gone into training at Sacramento to prepare for the great four mile race on the 22d of February. Foster is a good horse and has many friends in Oregon. He is a descendant of old Lexington and was a very highly esteemed animal in the East before he was brought to this coast. It is said that Capt Moore thought him the best colt he ever owned. Foster will have to contend with perhaps the best four mile horses in America, Katie Pease Rutherford Springbok and Wildidle will be hard to beat. We hope nothing will prevent the coming off of the race at the time now fixed, and that there may be a good day and track. The winner of the race will be for a time at least the most famous horse in America.

The 1st of January 1876 being the centennial anniversary of the adoption of the Star Spangled Banner by the Continental army for its standard, the Board of Alderman of New York have ordered the display of the Stars and Stripes from all the city buildings in that city and have recommended that all public places and the ships in the harbor be similarly decorated. They express the hope that this display of the national flag on that day will be general throughout the whole country. Certainly nothing could be more appropriate and we hope that it will be done here.

The action of Bishop Haven in nominating in the name of Christianity the President for a third term does not seem to find many endorsers. The Methodists of Ohio have been holding a meeting at which the subject was briefly but spiritedly discussed. The resolutions offered touching it were laid on the table on what grounds the reports do not expressly state but probably for the sensible reason that religious conventions should express no opinion on the subject of politics.

Walker the California Vinegar Bitters man is suing for a divorce from his wife. He appears to be a very wealthy man owning up to an income of $100 000. His wife asks the Court to allow her $400 per week alimony but the Court can not see the matter in the same light as she does, and awards her for the present only $50 per week. This is however sufficient to rub along on until the question is finally determined.

Ex Governor Newell has countermanded the order calling a meeting of the committee of the National Union League of America and has issued an order for a meeting of the sub committee in New York. In some of our exchanges it has been reported that a number of the members of the Union League are in favor of [illegible] that society but the proposition did not seem to be received with much favor.

Tweed not appearing in seven cases against him Judge Donohue ordered his recognizance in each case to be forfeited and now his bondsmen are anxiously inquiring what they are [illegible] to do about it.

CITY.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT ST STEPHEN'S CHAPEL — A more happy and joyous throng never assembled in St Stephens than did on Tuesday evening on the occasion of the lighting of the Christmas tree. There were present the children of St Stephen's St Matthew's Mission school the orphans of the Orphanage and the pupils of the Chinese school. After forming in the vestry room like young Christian soldiers they marched into the chapel bearing their banners and singing a sweet carol. At the conclusion of which they all knelt down for their silent prayer. It was observed by many among the crowded congregation, with what reverence and decorum they all conducted themselves. Then the chaplain read the second chapter of St Matthew's gospel giving an account of the murder of the Innocents, after which the Bishop, in his felicitous way addressed the children. Among many appropriate things he said that particularly churchmen and church women, but more especially the children of the church had a right to be joyous at this season; for they believed and were persuaded that the great gift of God for the salvation of the world, the Lord Jesus was born as at this time, and therefore they rejoiced that the mere lighting of a tree, full of either costly or paltry presents without the sweet meaning of the occasion was a meaning less service, the Bishop then closed with a few words of encouragement and advice and then the children in clear and firm voice, repeated the Apostle's Creed in token that hereafter they would not be ashamed to confess the faith of Christ crucified, but manfully to fight under His banner against sin, the world and the devil and so continue Christ's faithful soldiers and servants unto their life's end. This is "Church Doctrine and Bible Teaching." After singing another carol, the children marched to the large room under the chapel, where a magnificent Christmas tree, whose boughs were freighted down with many gifts for young and old stood lit up in a blaze of light. And then began the distribution of presents amid the usual hum and noise and frolic of children the pleasure of parents and in two hours all was over leaving only the recollection of joy, unalloyed by any sadness.

ASSAULT WITH A DANGEROUS WEAPON.—Yesterday a Chinese cook named Chim Wy, employed at Fabre & Barnes restaurant, at the Central Market, had a misunderstanding with one of the waiters about an order. One word served as a provocation for another and finally Chim Wy seized hold of a butcher knife and was preparing to engage in the carving business. Before he could carry his evidently murderous intentions into effect Mr Barnes, one of the proprietors, sprang forward and caught hold of the Chinaman. Chim Wy turned about and struck a savage blow at Mr Barnes, who fortunately warded it off, and knocking the knife from the Chinaman's hand clutched him by the throat. Just as he did so, Chim Wy with the rapidity of a cat caught a cleaver which was lying near at hand and made several attempts to strike Mr Barnes on the head with the dangerous weapon. However, Barnes proved too strong for the wiry Mongolian, and managed to hold him till some one interfered. Immediately after the row, Chim Wy returned to his work just as if nothing had occurred. Complaint was lodged against him at police court and Officer Burk sent to arrest him. He made desperate resistance, and had to be taken to jail by main force. Chim Wy was lodged in jail and will be tried this morning on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

PLYMOUTH MISSION SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The entertainment at this place Saturday afternoon was largely attended. At the early hour of 1:30 o'clock P M there assembled the usual number of scholars and teachers and a large number of visitors. The tree furnished for the occasion was finely decorated with the Stars and Stripes and heavily laden with cornucopias and presents the presents being a great surprise to all present. One large table on the right of the church was heavily laden with refreshments, which were furnished by the ladies and friends of the school. The room was nicely decorated for the occasion. The music, furnished by McGibeny and family, was exceedingly interesting, also the school was remarkably well under the leadership of Mr J C Humphry. The following order of exercises was observed: Opening piece school, reading Scriptures by the superintendent Children's Song the McGibeny family chorus, by school recitations, by G E Smith and class song by the Misses Lord, Kindergarten song, McGibeny family recitation, "What the Birds Say," Laura Lord song by Clara Shindler song, "Save the Boy," by Miss Cooper Kindergarten song by McGibeny family chorus, by the school Festival and distribution of presents.

STEAMER GUSSIE TELFAIR.—Capt Geo H Flanders, United States Inspector of Hulls, went down to Astoria last Monday morning, for the purpose of making an examination of the hull of the steamer Gussie Telfair, which now lies beached at that point. But the vessel lies so deep in the water that he was unable to make a satisfactory inspection of the hull, and returned to the city. Yesterday morning one of the steam fire engines belonging to Multnomah Co No 2, was placed on board the steamer Shoo Fly and taken to Astoria. The engine will be used in pumping out the hull of the Gussie Telfair when she is drawn a little further upon the beach. Mr. Cummings, second assistant engineer of No 2, and Mr Wascher the company's engineer went down to superintend operations. With the aid of the engine it is hoped that the steamer can soon be got afloat and the breach in the hull repaired.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.—On motion of United States District Attorney Mallory Col H. Clay Wood, adjutant general of the Department of the Columbia was admitted to practice in the U. S district court Tuesday. Col Wood is a graduate of Bowdoin college Brunswick, Maine. He graduated with high honors from that institution in 1854. Subsequently he studied law with Senator Merrill of that State, and was admitted to practice in 1856. Last winter Col Wood was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of Oregon on motion of Judge W W Upton. We understand that Col Wood has some thought of retiring from the service of Uncle Sam and engaging in the legal profession in Portland.

LIBERAL REUNION.—The 29th of January is the birthday of Thomas Paine and in honor of the event the Liberal Association of this city intend to have on Sunday January 30, 1876, at their usual time and place of meeting, an oration on the life and times of that great advocate of free thought, together with select readings from his writings and the singing by the members of the association of an ode of his own composition entitled "Liberty Tree." These exercises will be interspersed with vocal and instrumental music selected for the occasion. Liberals from all parts of the State are expected to be in attendance and form a grand reunion.

A SUBSTANTIAL PRESENT.—Capt J A Sladen, of Gen Howard's personal staff of whose recent misfortune in losing his foot the public are acquainted, was made the recipient of Christmas of a most substantial present. The present was one which he will have occasion to use all his life being neither more nor less than one of Palmer's patent legs. The artificial limb cost $140 which sum was raised among the several officers connected with the headquarters of the Department of the Columbia. To say that Capt Sladen feels highly obligated to the generous donors as well as immensely gratified but feebly expresses it.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—Tuesday evening the members of [illegible] elected the following officers for the ensuing term: D I Buchanan [illegible]; Thompson [illegible] W J [illegible]; warden Chas [illegible]; H Lyon [illegible]; J H Lyon [illegible]; trustees. The officers elect will be installed on the second Tuesday [illegible].

ASSUMED CHARGE.—[illegible] General Mulder's successor [illegible] session of the office books papers [illegible] nected with the [illegible]. We understand that he [illegible] make any changes in the assistant engineers and draughtsmen at [illegible] present. General Michler [illegible] on the Oriflamme [illegible] his arrangements.

STEAMER ORIFLAMME.—Up to 12 o'clock last night the steamer Oriflamme had not reached this port from San Francisco. Yesterday silly rumors were afloat that the steamer had been lost off the bar. Such reports on investigation proved to be pure fabrications utterly unworthy the credence of the public. The steamer Dixie Thompson which left Astoria yesterday heard nor saw nothing whatever of the steamer so it is entirely unreasonable that such a story could be true. There is also a report that the Oriflamme was unexpectedly detained at San Francisco and did not sail until Monday morning. If such is the case there exists good reason for her non arrival here. If not the weather has been extremely rough at sea and her delay can be satisfactorily accounted for.

A MEAN TRICK.—Some party unknown at present to the family whom he intended to injure sent through the postoffice to this office on Tuesday evening a death notice of a young lady, written in the usual form with the exception that it should be inserted in Thursday's issue, which fact alone prevented its publication yesterday not suspecting anything wrong. A gentleman who resides in the neighborhood of the family who happened to hear of the receipt of the notice at this office called at the store of the gentleman mentioned in the notice and found matters as usual and the reported demise of his daughter proved a great surprise to him. The notice given was declared the work of some one who would find it decidedly uncomfortable should he be found out.

WHARF REPAIRED.—Some time ago the O S S Co sent men down the Columbia river to repair the damages sustained by Hapgood's wharf into which the steamer Gussie Telfair ran when she struck a rock and sunk. The men have returned having completed the necessary repairs.

THANKS RETURNED.—Mr Smith Superintendent of the Plymouth Church Sunday School takes this method of returning thanks to the merchants of Portland and all others who generously aided him in furnishing presents for the Christmas tree given at the church Saturday afternoon.

TRANSFER REPORTED.—It was currently reported on the street yesterday that the Willamette River Transportation Co had made certain important transfers to the Oregon Steam Navigation Co. We shall be able to throw more light upon the subject in our next issue.

CARD FROM THE STREET COMMISSIONER

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

My attention has been called to an article appearing in the Sunday Welcome of date of Dec 26th purporting to state the facts concerning the unfortunate accident by which Mr James Newman was so badly injured. The portion of the article which I wish particularly to notice is as follows:

"This accident seems to be the result of negligence of those whose duty it is to see that the streets and sidewalks are kept in a safe condition for pedestrians. If the Common Council has no one to rid the city of the many man traps to be found within its limits it is high time some one should be appointed to that position."

In the absence of any explanation many persons might be led to the conclusion that as street commissioner I had been derelict in the premises.

I will not here attempt to discuss whether the ordinances in such cases are what they should be or otherwise, but will content myself with simply stating the facts as they are.

City ordinance No 1 168, approved May 24, 1872 provides as follows:

"Section 1. The owners or agents of any property fronting or abutting on any street improved by direction of the Common Council or under a permit authorizing such improvement shall when notified by the street commissioner at their own expense make or cause to be made such local repairs to such street, roadway sidewalk, or crosswalk as will place the same in as good condition as when accepted by the proper authorities, ordinary wear and tear excepted."

In accordance with the provisions of said ordinance early in March last as street commissioner, I notified the owners of property in the neighborhood of Front and Morrison streets (where the accident referred to occurred) to repair the same and to provide hand railing along said line sufficient to provide against any accident to pedestrians. Some of the property on Front street was at that time in litigation and I experienced great difficulty in procuring a compliance with the ordinance, I finally succeeded in getting the sidewalk repaired and a sufficient hand railing erected to prevent accident along nearly the whole of the line and, as to the particular place where the accident referred to occurred I have repeatedly notified the agent of the owner to make such repairs and have also notified the owner thereof (who is a non resident of this county) in writing, of the condition of said property and urged upon him the necessity of making such repairs, and have so persistently urged the matter upon the attention of the agent aforesaid as to call down upon myself his curses and maledictions. The Common Council have provided no means for the enforcement of the ordinance except to subject the offender to a fine of not less than five nor more than twenty five dollars for each and every offense. It is, therefore apparent that I have done all that I can do when I have notified the parties as provided by ordinance.

In this connection it may be proper to observe that substantially the same provisions have been made by ordinance in reference to cleaning the streets and much complaint is made concerning the muddy and filthy condition of the streets when it is utterly impossible to secure an enforcement of the ordinance. A considerable portion of the property of the city is unimproved and unoccupied and the owners are non residents, who have no agents residing within the city upon whom service of notice can be made. Very frequently since my appointment to the position aforesaid I have caused the streets to be cleaned and necessary improvements made at my own expense, much more indeed than I have been justified in doing upon my salary and I am sure no fair minded person will attach blame to me who will take the trouble to investigate the facts.

Street Superintendent

BRIEF NOTES

No new vessels are reported off the bar.

The steamer Okyhee will leave Celilo tomorrow for Umatilla and Wallula.

Send in your ads early for the New Year's number of the DAILY OREGONIAN.

New sidewalk has been laid on Second street in front of the Congregational church.

The stages failed to connect and as a consequence no mails south of Roseburg came through last evening.

Chief Engineer elect J H Lyon has removed to central quarters Fourth street between Yamhill and Taylor.

INDIAN TROUBLES THREATENED.

Tuesday evening, Gen O O Howard received the following dispatch from Governor Grover:

SALEM, Dec 28, 1875.

To Brig Gen O O Howard Commanding Department of Columbia Portland. I have just received the following telegram:

UNION Dec 28, 1875.

To Gov Grover. The Indians of the Wallowa country in Union county have ordered the settlers to take their stock off that range using weapons to enforce the same. There are sixteen hundred head of cattle and one hundred head of horses now on the Imnaha part of the Wallowa country. These animals have been driven by the Indians into the mountains and cannot subsist where they are. The citizens of the country are able to protect themselves but they are prudently waiting for the military. Delay is destructive to the stock. Prompt measures are positively necessary. Joseph's band comprise 80 warriors. Settlers from Wallowa are here waiting to hear from you.

Respectfully, E C BRAINARD,
County Judge.

I urgently request that United States troops be furnished to protect the settlers.

L F GROVER
Governor of Oregon.

Early yesterday morning General Howard forwarded the following telegram to Colonel Elmer Otis:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF COLUMBIA,
PORTLAND Dec 29 1875

To Col Elmer Otis the Commanding Officer at Fort Walla Walla. E C Brainard, county judge, telegraphs to Governor Grover 28th instant substantially: The Indians in Wallowa valley have ordered the settlers to take their stock off the range using weapons to enforce the same. 1600 head of cattle 100 head horses now on Imnaha. Indians driven them into mountains stock cannot subsist there. Citizens can protect themselves, but patiently wait for the military. Delay is destructive to the stock. Prompt measures are necessary, &c, & Grover urgently requests troops to protect the settlers, &c &c.

Prepare two companies and send along the telegraph line. Send Whipple immediately to Union in advance of the troops, to investigate. He is empowered to command, hasten or stay troops or turn them back according as he finds it necessary. Whipple will telegraph facts here from Union as soon as possible. Acknowledge receipt.

By Command Brig Gen Howard
H CLAY WOOD, Adjutant General.

The following telegram was also sent to Mr Hannah:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF COLUMBIA
PORTLAND Dec 29 1875

To Samuel M. Hannah La Grande. Please state facts concerning present hostile attitude of Joseph's band if so.

By command of Brig Gen Howard
H CLAY WOOD Adjutant General.

General Howard also sent the following dispatch to His Excellency Gov Grover:

HEADQUARTERS DEPT OF THE COLUMBIA
PORTLAND Oregon, Dec 29, 1875

T L F Grover Governor of Oregon. Your dispatch of 28th received. I have started two companies from Walla Walla under command of Colonel Whipple, sending him in advance to Union. Have you a military company in Grande Ronde valley?

By command Brig Gen Howard
H CLAY WOOD,
Adjutant General.

In response to the above telegram Governor Grover transmitted the following yesterday afternoon:

To Major General O O Howard commanding Department of the Columbia. I am greatly obliged to you for your prompt action for the protection of the settlers in the Wallowa valley. There is an organized military company in Grande Ronde valley. If not ready for immediate service a company of volunteers could be raised there in a few hours' notice, if you require them.

L F GROVER Governor.

Young Joseph, who is spoken of, belongs to the Nez Perces tribe, and is the chief of about 80 warriors. He and his band have persistently refused to go on a reservation, and have declined to accept of any annuities from the government. Wallowa valley, it seems, was promised Joseph by his father, and the young sachem has ever regarded that domain as his particular patrimony and the action of the government in dispossessing him and his tribe of the valley and opening it to settlers, evoked his bitterest hostility. His hatred toward the government, and especially the settlers who now possess the valley has, without doubt been the governing motive in directing Chief Joseph in this late act of open defiance to the constituted authorities and the rights of citizens.

THE COURTS.

U S DISTRICT COURT—DEADY J.

WEDNESDAY Dec 29 1875

U S vs S J Montgomery. Tuesday after noon the prosecution completed the evidence and rested their case, court adjourned until yesterday morning to enable the defense to get their witnesses ready. The examination of witnesses in behalf of the defense commenced yesterday morning and continued up to a late hour in the afternoon. In the evening, the argument of counsel was made which was followed by the charge of the court to the jury. The jury retired and after a short deliberation returned a verdict of not guilty.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr J M Patterson administrator, offers for sale on the 11th of January 1876 the Capital Flouring Mill at Salem. A splendid opportunity for securing a good bargain.

Mrs C L Henderson, late of Ithaca New York, announces that she is prepared to give private lessons in French, Spanish and Forte piano to a limited number of persons. The lady offers the best of references as to her thorough competence.

Fishel & Roberts will add still further to their list of goods upon the arrival of the steamer. We would advise all to look in and examine the stock and we may add purchase at the same time.

Have you purchased a winter suit? If you have not do so now, and save expense when the demand for the article is greater. Beck & Waldman can accommodate you. Try them. Boys' clothing a specialty.

You will find a big lunch at Faure & Barnes to day.

Smoke from O'Brien's cigars if you would be happy. They are capital.

The Elmwood collar with all the edges folded will fit better and wear longer than other. Prove this by trying.

W Jackson & Co are selling their elegant French China dinner and tea sets fine plated ware, and everything in their line at such prices as cannot fail to please. They are having a great closing out sale. Open in the evening.

Skating every evening at Wood's Museum. Admission 25 cents, use of skate 25 cents.

A MISTAKE.—It is quite a mistake to think by the late telegram that the Wheeler & Wilson factory was destroyed as it was but a small part of it. The agent informs us that he is still able to supply his usual demand for the coming times for holiday presents. We should say so, by the quantity of freight received and shipped from the Portland office.

The new feature of a skating rink at Wood's Museum makes lots of fun for the gay and old. Crowded every night.

Wood has hit upon a popular card. If you want to see a sight, and laugh until your sides ache go to Wood's Museum.

LINN COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

First Day—Morning Session.

ALBANY Dec 28 1875

Institute met at 10 o'clock A M at the hall of Western Star Lodge I O G T, and was called to order by Jas K Weatherford county school superintendent. The following named teachers were present from the county together with a few from the outside: H. S Morris, T J. Gregg, L Belyeu, F M Osburn, J J Lorain, W B Henderson, J K Weatherford, J J Stites, J F Royse, I W Tyrrie, B A Cathey, J P Stites and Mrs Addie Mansfield.

Prof T J Stites chairman of the committee on programme reported the following for the entire session:

Tuesday—1 30 P M, miscellaneous business 2 noon 1 P M music by the College Glee Club 4 subject of reading and elocutionary by L Belyeu 5 music 6 essay by Miss Gilbert 7 subject of interest by Prof Gregg.

Wednesday—9 A M music 2 subject of orthography by J H Gilbert 3 music 4 subject of modes of verbs by D V S Reid 5 noon 6, 1 P M, modes of verbs continued 7 subject of fractions by O P Porter 8 essay by Miss Maria Irvin subject "It might have been" 9 music.

Thursday—1 9 A M subject of analysis and parsing by W R Powell 3 music 4 subject of school government by Prof R K Warren 5, noon 6 subject of school government continued 7 subject of geography 8 essay by Mrs Mansfield, subject "Our common schools" 9 music.

Afternoon Session

Institute met at 1 o'clock Weatherford in the chair.

Committee on constitution and by laws appointed by the chair at the April session reported, and were adopted section by section.

Moved and seconded that this institute have after hold two sessions during the year. After considerable discussion pro and con the motion prevailed.

The chair appointed Mr J W Redford of Halsey, to act as critic.

On the subject of reading and elocution, Mr Belyeu delivered a very plain forcible and argumentative address and his suggestions we have no doubt will be heeded by a great many.

The chair then declared the above subject open for discussion. It was pretty thoroughly discussed by Messrs Cathey, Warren Gregg and Anderson.

The chair announced that the discussion on the above would be resumed at the evening session.

The subject of interest was then taken up by Prof. Gregg, who thoroughly demonstrated his views on the blackboard.

The subject was then thrown open that different views might be had on the subject. Messrs. Cathey, Belyeu, Royse, Morris and Siler expressed their views pretty freely. Morris and Siler had a bit of "set to" on the difference of opinions of six per cent rules but after comparing views a compromise was effected and no blood spilt.

The discussion was then resumed by Prof T. J Stites, who gave several examples in partial payments on the board and gave his manner of reaching the desired amount, with perfect satisfaction.

Mr Siler moved to have the sense of the institute taken as to whether this body endorsed the six per cent rule or the other set of rules as laid down in the text books. The motion drew forth the sentiment of the entire institute and things got to be very interesting so much so that the motion was withdrawn.

The institute then adjourned to meet at the Central school house for an evening session at 6½ P M.

... OF A FRENCH OFFICER.—A ... despatch to the London Daily News dated Nov 20th says The military degradation of Lieut Mauron who has been sentenced to ten years penal servitude for nine robberies one of which was aggravated by housebreaking took place on Saturday at Toulon. The convict is described as a tall finely built handsome man of 26 His military antecedents are highly honorable He was promoted from the ranks for his heroic conduct at Woerth and Wissembourg but he seems to have been as thievish as a magpie, stealing money trinkets, spoons, forks, pipes, snuff boxes and cigars whenever he had an opportunity, and hoarding them in his quarters Before the trial he twice attempted to escape from forts Carre and Lamarque, and dislocated his ankle in jumping from a wall Being unable to walk he was carried into the barrack yard for degradation A sergeant tore off his epaulets Being popular in the regiment his comrades were most painfully affected as his sword was broken No private offered to kick him but when handed over to the civil authorities the gendarmes after slipping on the handcuffs, dragged him along to prison
